International Publishers Exhibition

Dear Foreign Language Professional,

As society evolves from one generation to the other, the foreign language teaching community evolves with it. This is reflected on the most representative event of its field in Northern Greece - the Autumn '19 Thessaloniki International Publishers Exhibition.

From mere exhibiting the books' contents, we have moved to educational specialists discussing and explaining the theory behind the course-books and assessments: "why do I do it" instead of just "what should I do" and "how the student learns" instead of just "how should I teach". Experienced teachers and teacher trainers will handle a great variety of subjects through sessions that cover every aspect of the teaching process. Each student is unique. Each teacher is unique. There are thousands of recipes for success. The IPEs provide the book that contains all of them. We are confident that with 33 exhibitors and 35 presentations & workshops you can find exactly what suits you and your students!

Either you belong to the Baby Boomers or to the Generation Z...the organisers, exhibitors and presenters are looking forward to proudly welcoming you at the Autumn '19 Thessaloniki International Publishers Exhibition.

NO HOMEWORK: UTOPIA OR REALITY?

Anna Karanikola, Teacher, FLS Owner
INTERNATIONAL PUBLISHERS EXHIBITIONS

Homework without understanding the concept is a negative experience. Research has been unable to prove that homework improves students' performance. Children should get the chance to be children, not spend their afternoons studying, stressing and most of all hating books and school. I have a no homework policy in my school, and both children and parents love it. Utopia? No. It is all about time management and flexibility.

HOMEWORK IN THE 21st CENTURY: IDEAS TO EXCITE AND ENGAGE EFL LEARNERS!

EXPRESS PUBLISHING

Homework has always been a mainstay teacher strategy. When used properly, homework is an effective method for reinforcing educational learning goals. In the 21st century, a new style of homework should be encouraged, beyond the current model that mainly emphasizes rote rehearsal skills and mere practice at home. This new homework model should entail activities that inspire students to be more creative, explore their interests and become more autonomous. Only by providing learners with tasks that are relevant, intriguing, interesting and exciting can there be a positive correlation between homework and higher levels of academic achievement.

Moomin Language School (MLS) is the Finnish approach to early childhood (3-7 years old) education. It is based on the principles of language immersion through the combination of the "playful lessons" and the MLS platform. The new language is learned organically and intuitively while promoting the young learners' autonomy and cultivating their soft skills (active listening, self-monitoring, critical thinking, resilience, team work etc). Do you wish to create a unique educational environment where your students learn to love and love to learn? Dare to join us!

TECHNOLOGY-BASED ASSESSMENT OR TRADITIONAL CLASSROOM ASSESSMENT?

Marios Molfetas, Language Qualifications Director

Paul Bouniol, Academic Consultant

LANGUAGECERT

This presentation aims to share samples of technology-based assessment as well as instances of traditional classroom assessment. The first part will refer to computer-based exams, with focus on online proctored exams while the second part will focus on young learners' exams held in traditional classroom settings. There will be reference to the benefits of both of them and the conclusion that will be drawn is that each one of these forms of assessment has its own merits and that teachers and schools will benefit from both of these options.

Special offer to visitors of the IPE

LEARNING DIFFERENCES: OVERCOMING EMOTIONAL LEARNING BLOCKS IN STUDENTS WITH LEARNING AND/OR BEHAVIORAL CHALLENGES

The workshop will begin with a description of most commonly encountered learning differences. It will then focus on the secondary emotional effects that accompany these difficulties. The student's negative feelings of resistance and shame block the teaching process. We will address emotional management and healthy problem solving by engaging in hands on strategies that can be used by the teacher either personally or in the classroom.

Marialena Kalyva (MA Clinical Psychology, MSc Child and Family Therapy) was born and raised in Johannesburg, where she received her first Master's degree in Clinical Psychology (University of South Africa). She then attained a second Master's degree in Child and Family Therapy (University of La Verne, Southern California). Marialena's initial specialization was in trauma counseling assisting victims of violent crime. She continued her work with children suffering from chronic and fatal illnesses specializing in resilience training. Since moving to Greece in 1999, Marialena has worked at the International School of Athens and at the American Community Schools of Athens where she taught IB Psychology and worked extensively in special needs programs. She is a public speaker and trainer delivering many presentations and workshops through-out Greece and Cyprus to educators and parents addressing issues pertinent to the healthy psychological development of children and adolescents. Marialena is a National Certified Psychologist who has been in private practice since 2001. She conducts family, couples and individual psychotherapy to children, adolescents and adults.

RECORDING, REVISING & REVISITING LEXIS

While most teachers understand the importance of teaching vocabulary in chunks, they often need more practical tools. The purpose of this hands-on workshop is to provide fresh ideas on how to revise and recycle lexical chunks your learners come across. Get ready for a wide variety of activities suitable for different levels, ages and learning styles. No time to plan your lesson? There will be some "last minute" solutions which require a bit of thinking on your feet. And do not forget to bring your scissors - you might have to do some cutting!

Leo Selivan has been involved in ELT for 15 years in various roles: teacher, examiner, teacher trainer, senior teacher, materials writer, e-moderator. He was lucky to start his teaching career with the British Council in Tel Aviv, where, among other things, he was a content writer for the British Council & BBC website TeachingEnglish.

Today, Leo is a freelance lecturer in Second Language Acquisition, Language Awareness, ELT methodology and Vocabulary Teaching for both pre-service and in-service teachers. In addition to frequent appearances at international conferences, he has delivered teacher training workshops, and mentored teachers and teacher trainers in Azerbaijan, Armenia, France, Italy and Turkey. He has written for Modern English Teacher, EFL Magazine and the Guardian Education, co-edited the special Lexical issue of Humanising Language Teaching (with Hanna Kryszewska) and has just published his first book Lexical Grammar (for the Cambridge Handbooks for Teachers). He runs a blog aptly titled Lexicon (<http://lexicon.blogspot.com>).
