International Publishers Exhibition

Dear Foreign Language Professional,

As society evolves from one generation to the other, the foreign language teaching community evolves with it. This is reflected on the most representative event of its field in Greece - the Autumn '19 Athens International Publishers Exhibition.

From mere exhibiting the books' contents, we have moved to educational specialists discussing and explaining the theory behind the course-books and assessments: "why do I do it" instead of just "what should I do" and "how the student learns" instead of just "how should I teach". Experienced teachers and teacher trainers will handle a great variety of subjects through sessions that cover every aspect of the teaching process. Each student is unique. Each teacher is unique. There are thousands of recipes for success. The IPEs provide the book that contains all of them. We are confident that with 42 exhibitors and 44 presentations & workshops you can find exactly what suits you and your students!

Either you belong to the Baby Boomers or to the Generation Z...the organisers, exhibitors and presenters are looking forward to proudly welcoming you at the Autumn '19 Athens International Publishers Exhibition.

HOMEWORK IN THE 21st CENTURY: IDEAS TO EXCITE AND ENGAGE EFL LEARNERS!

EXPRESS PUBLISHING

Homework has always been a mainstay teacher strategy. When used properly, homework is an effective method for reinforcing educational learning goals. In the 21st century, a new style of homework should be encouraged, beyond the current model that mainly emphasizes rote rehearsal skills and mere practice at home. This new homework model should entail activities that inspire students to be more creative, explore their interests and become more autonomous. Only by providing learners with tasks that are relevant, intriguing, interesting and exciting can there be a positive correlation between homework and higher levels of academic achievement.

This presentation aims to share samples of technology-based assessment as well as instances of traditional classroom assessment. The first part will refer to computer-based exams, with focus on online proctored exams while the second part will focus on young learners' exams held in traditional classroom settings. There will be reference to the benefits of both of them and the conclusion that will be drawn is that each one of these forms of assessment has its own merits and that teachers and schools will benefit from both of these options.

LEARNING DIFFERENCES: OVERCOMING EMOTIONAL LEARNING BLOCKS IN STUDENTS WITH LEARNING AND/OR BEHAVIORAL CHALLENGES

The workshop will begin with a description of most commonly encountered learning differences. It will then focus on the secondary emotional effects that accompany these difficulties. The student's negative feelings of resistance and shame block the teaching process. We will address emotional management and healthy problem solving by engaging in hands on strategies that can be used by the teacher either personally or in the classroom.

Marialena Kalyva (MA Clinical Psychology, MSc Child and Family Therapy) was born and raised in Johannesburg, where she received her first Master's degree in Clinical Psychology (University of South Africa). TASTER INTO NEUROLANGUAGE COACHING®

One of the first steps to changing the language learning process is the transformation of the educator's style of delivery.

In this taster we will be looking at how the educator can change patterns of communication to become more brain friendly, more thought provoking and more neutrally stimulating. Being a coach is acquired skill. Becoming self-aware and conscious of how we communicate requires discipline and practice.

This workshop will trigger metacognition and introduce the fundamentals of coaching and how to communicate in a brain friendly manner. There will be theory with practice so that you can immediately apply the learning and start the journey to becoming a coach
